COSMEDICA 2016
September 9th | 12:00pm

Moderators:

Alexandros Bader, MD, FAAOCG Founder and President of the European Society of Aesthetic Gynecology “ESAG”

For the first time in SA, COSMEDICA is introducing an internationally accredited training program in the new field of aesthetic gynaecology. Exclusively carried out by medical doctors, cosmetic vaginal rejuvenation (non-surgical methods) and surgery procedures are aimed at altering and enhancing the Intimate area appearance and repairing the relaxed Vulvar wall.

Cosmetic vaginal surgery is considered to be a connection between 3 specialties: Gynaecology, Cosmetic Surgery & Dermatology.

This training program comprises of mainly non-surgical interventions. The objective of the course is to equip OB-GYNs, plastic surgeons and other MD specialists with new innovative skills in the emerging modern specialty of vaginal rejuvenation.

The program is presented by one of the world’s foremost expert in cosmetic gynaecology, Dr Alexandros Bader (OB-GYN) who is a pioneer in the introduction of innovative techniques and protocols in this field.

Dr Bader has a vast experience in treating patients and training physicians, which he has gained throughout his patient base across 45 different countries, and through multiple regular teaching engagements at conferences and medical training institutions.

The nonsurgical 1 day training is a fast, comprehensive and practical program promising immediate acquisition of new clinical skills in the fields of laser vaginal tightening, and labia majora augmentation.

Physicians seeking to augment their practice with new innovative services now have the chance to be a pioneer in these novel modern procedures whilst gaining a certification from the European Society of Aesthetic Gynaecology.
